

insights

Jennifer Post included in ‘Top Minority Attorneys in Los Angeles’ list for 2020

For the third year in a row, the Los Angeles Business Journal has named Thompson Coburn partner Jennifer Post to its 2020 list of the “Top Minority Attorneys in Los Angeles,” previously called the “Most Influential Minority Attorneys in Los Angeles.”

The list, meant to highlight the diversity and vibrancy of Los Angeles and its legal community, highlights 50 of the best minority attorneys in the L.A. region.

Jennifer is the managing partner of the firm’s Los Angeles office and a member of the firm’s Corporate and Securities practice. She serves as primary outside counsel to a variety of individuals, institutions and companies, including entrepreneurs, startups and investors, as well as domestic and international public companies. Jennifer founded FSIX Advisors Circle, a networking and resource group for LGBTQ professionals in the financial industry. Additionally, Post serves as a member of the Steering Committee of StartOut LA, an organization that provides resources and mentorship to LGBTQ entrepreneurs to empower emerging leaders in technology and related industries. Jennifer is a member of the firm’s Management Committee.

authorsTest