Thompson Coburn moves to new offices in Los Angeles

On June 1, Thompson Coburn's Los Angeles office relocated to 10100 Santa Monica Boulevard, located in LA's Century City.

"We are pleased to be staying in Century City, which has been our home since Thompson Coburn expanded to Los Angeles in 2013," said Chair Roman Wuller. "We look forward to continuing to serve our clients in one of California's most prominent business centers."

With spacious and flexible meeting space that combines the best of in-person and virtual meeting capabilities, this move represents our Firm's continued commitment to serving clients in Southern California and across the country. Our new office space is designed to foster collaboration with our clients, colleagues, business partners, and members of the community.

"We are excited to operate from our new space at 10100 to better serve our clients in Southern California and beyond," said LA office Managing Partner Jennifer Post. "This is a significant next step for Thompson Coburn's growth in Los Angeles."
