I am a commercial litigator with experience from initial pleadings through trial and appeals. I bring a practical understanding of transactions and distressed situations to courtroom disputes due to my past experience working on complex corporate reorganizations.

overview

Will Thompson practices commercial litigation, working with clients in various industries including logistics and transportation, pharmaceuticals, and financial services.

Will works closely with clients to distill thorny issues, provide good counsel, and deliver practical results. He brings constructive solutions to complex and high-stress situations, whether that be through motions practice or witness preparation.

Before joining Thompson Coburn, Will was an associate at a leading multinational law firm where he worked on complex Chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings. In law school, he interned for the Office of the Missouri Attorney General and for the Department of Justice.

in my free time

I love camping and hiking with my wife and kids, from the rivers and rolling hills of the Ozarks to the mountains and canyons of Glacier and the Tetons.
